

minor ailments or injuries may be isolated and properly cared for. The College, at the present time, has no resident nurse, but requires that anyone needing the attention of a nurse shall have it, the money to meet the expense being advanced by the College if necessary.

There are several physicians immediately available in Black Mountain, and the neighboring city of Asheville is well supplied not only with modern hospital facilities but also with specialists in various fields of medicine.

The College cannot provide special diets.

FEES

The yearly fee, which covers room, board, and tuition for the regular academic year of two semesters, is $1600.

The fee of $1600 is intended to cover all of a student's expenses except those that are of a personal nature, and the following items:

Application fee	$ 5.00
Contingency and breakage deposit	$25.00
Linen fee (per semester)	$ 6.50
Examination for graduation	$35.00
Fee for late payment of any bill	$10.00
Transcript	$ 1.00 each
Laboratory fees as indicated in course descriptions.

Veterans planning to attend under the provisions of the GI Bill and the new Korean Bill should write for details.

SCHOLARSHIPS

SCHOLARSHIP GRANTS

Ideally, and in so far as possible practically, admission to the student body is made to depend upon personal merit. The Admissions Committee decides upon each applicant, in the first instance, quite independently of financial considerations.

Those who can are required to pay the full fee of $1600. Students who want to come to the College but cannot afford this cost are encouraged to apply for a Scholarship Grant.

In order to arrive at a fair figure, each applicant for a Scholarship Grant is required to make a detailed confidential statement of his family's financial resources on a blank furnished by the College. This statement must be signed by the person responsible for payment of fees. On the basis of the scholarship rating received from the Admissions Committee and this statement, the Committee on Student Fees decides the amount of the grant, which may not exceed $600 for the year, and which is applied directly to the full fee of $1600.